Art with Heart

Art with Heart

Art with Heart is a nonprofit based in Seattle, WA, dedicated to supporting the emotional well-being of children adversely affected by hardship, using creativity to lead to inspired possibilities.

Since 2002, they have created healing, therapeutic books that bring together the best in therapy with the best in illustration to help children and teens facing distress and hardship. They offer trainings and programs to help children locally as well.

Eluna and Art with Heart have worked together for many years to increase access to art therapy for grieving children as well as children impacted by addiction in their families. Two of our program team members sat on the Advisory Board contributing to the development of Draw It Out for elementary aged children.

The Art with Heart books can be really powerful therapeutic tools for children facing strong emotions. Visit their book store for more information.
